T Full of love

Your Name Is Olga, by Joseph Espinas (Unwin Hyman, £5.95). 13/10
OLGA Espinas is aged 32 and suffers from Down's Syndrome. Her father, Joseph is a well known Catalan writer. His best-selling book, originally published in Spain, is a series of 'letters' to her.

Deeply touching, often moving, it should be read by everyone who is uncomfortable or embarrassed with Down's Syndrome children/adults. It is a book full of love, for Olga is a much loved and loving human being who may be 'flawed' or 'subnormal' but who has brought not only joy but also enriched perception to her parents.
